MARCHING TO CONEY ISLAND.

COMPANY C, SIXTY-NINTH REGIMENT, GOES TO THE SEASHORE.

Captain D. C. McCarthy, in command of Company C, 69th Regiment, terned out his men last evening from the armory in preparation for their fourth annual march to Coney Island. They were sixty strong. With the captain were First Lieutenant John O'Connell, Second Lieutenant Thomas F. Lynch and First Sor geant C. L. Kelly. The men were full-dress coat and tronsers, white leggings and gloves, fatigue caps, knapsacks with overcoat rolled thereon, with the "C" plate on belts. The commission wagon was in charge of Sergeant Edward Cassin. The men looked in excellent trim as they marched down the Bowery, across the Bridge and up Fulton st. to the Prooklyn City Hall, going thence by way of the horse cars to the end of Prospect Park. From there they marched along the Boulevard to Granger's Atlantic Hotel. Coney Island, where they were greeted by many friends amid a shower of fireworks. Before reaching Coney Island they had some skirmish practice, one wing of the company being commanded by Licutenant O'Connell and the other by Licutenant Lynch. One hundred reunds of blank cartridges were fired. On arriving at the hotel guard was mounted for a few hours and scatinels posted. After breakfast at 9 o'clock to day, the company will march the little chapel, which is close by, to attend 10 o'clock mass, which will be celebrated by Father Farrelly, who will also preach a sermon. After more exercises dinner will be served at 3 o'clock.

Captain McCarthy has invited the following persons, who will be present and make speeches: Colonel James Cavabagh, of the 60th Regiment: Cupitali John J. Ryan, Quarternaster J. J. Ward, Judge James Fitzeerald, J. M. Wall, Assemblyman Sulzer, Major Edward Duffy, Captains Thomas F. Lynca, Thomas Mortimer and Paul Leonard, Lleutenant P. J. Farrelly, Lewis J. Coulin, William N. Penney and Richard Lyons. The company will return by rall to the armory to-night. mass, which will be celebrated by Father Farrelly,

MR. HUBBARD WILL NOT BE COMPROMISED. Thomas H. Hubbard & turned yesterday from Salem,

Mass., where he has been engaged as attorney for Mr. Searles in the hearing in the Probate Court on the contested will of Mrs. Searles, He says the reports published yesterday gave him the first information that negotiations had been reopened look ing to a compromise of the will contest, "Is it not true that the postponement of the hearing to as late a date as October 14 was for the purpose of bringing about a compromise!" was asked of Mr. "No," he said, "the adjournment was satisfactory to both sides, and was for the accommodation of the judge more than anything else. If a compromise was on foot. I am quite sure I would know something of it, and I know that nothing in that di-rection had been attempted when I came away." "What is the probability as to a compromise in the tuture?"
"As to that I cannot speak," replied Mr. Hubbard.

YALE MEN IN TRAINING.

CANDIDATES FOR THE FOOTBALL TEAM-THE

LARGE FRESHMAN CLASS. New-Haven, Conn., Sept. 26 (Special).—This after-noon regular football practice was begun on the Yale field. Of last year's university eleven the following players are already in training: Captain Mc-Clung, '92; Barbour, '928.; L. Bliss, '92 N.; Crosley, '92; Hartwell, P. G.; Wallis, '93, and Mills, '93. Other candidates are: Bayne, '92; Noyes, '92; Sutphen, '93; McCormick, 93 S; Payne, 94; Butterworth. 95; Winter, '93 S.; Cochrane, '94; James, '94; Beach, '95; Richards, '95; Sanford, '98 S., and Hinckey., '95. Hartwell and Crosby will be on the ends, their old places. Payne, the big oarsman, will play at centre, probably. Wallis, '93, and Mills, '94, will be the most promising men for tackles. Wallis played in the championship games last year. Back of the line Yale has a host of candidates. Barbour, '92 S., last year's quarterback, and McCormick, '93 S., are the most promising men for quarterbacks. Fullback will be a hard place to fill this year. Van Dugan, '93 S., is spoken of as a possible man for the place, and he is a good player. The athletic defeats of the last two years have not been enjoyed by Yale men, and here is a firm deter mination this year to win all the contests so far as

The efforts of Dean Wayland and friends of the law school to provide more comfortable quarters have been rewarded, and a $40,000 site directly opposite the historic New Haven Green, and in one of the most desirable spots in the city has been obtained. It is hoped that generous friends of the school will give liberality toward the fund needed, which is $100,000. The large size of the freshman class has made it necessary to divide it into five divisions. Eighty numbers of the class have elected mechanical en members of the class have gineering.

President Dwight will not return from Europe until October. In the meantime Professor Ladd will conduct chapel exercises.

L. C. Dole, many years connected with Yale, has been engaged as instructor in athletics.

The total membership of the university this year will exceed $1.800. The total membership last year was 1,644. The total membership of the academical department, is 807. Last year's membership of the scientific school was 379. The membership now is 530.

A FINE LECTERN ON EXHIBITION.

At the showrooms of the Gotham Manufacturing Com-pany, Broadway and Nineteenth-st., there was on exhibition yesterday afternoon an important piece of sculptural work. The figure is classic, representing an angel as a lectern. The modelling was done at the company's foundry at Providence. Everything is well studied, and the treatment of the drapery is fine. The tigure is of bronze, 5 feet 6 inches in height, and weigh-ing 800 pounds. The dosk and base are made in brass and designed in the perpendicular Gothic style of the sixteenth century. On the base is engraved and filled in with red and black ename! this inexiption: "In Memorium, Heleo Laftin and Laura Runyon, daughters of Luther Laftin and Ediza McIntosh Kellogg."

The lectera, which is valued at $2,000, will be placed to the content of the property of the content of the co in the nave of the Protestant Episcopal Church of All Angels. The unveiling will take place on Monday evening, and Bishop Potter will deliver the sermon on FRAUDS ON A BENEFICIAL SOCIETY CHARGED. Baltimore, Sept. 26 (special) .- M. M. Poist and S. S. Field filed in the Circuit Court this afternoon a bill charging Carleton W. Bowle, William O.
